

ART IN THE PARK

An exciting new collaboration between Kirkby Gallery and Knowsley Safari, providing a range of free virtual creative learning sessions for schools and individuals, combining art and the natural world

Kirkby Gallery
& Prescott Museum

Kirkby Gallery has teamed up with Knowsley Safari to create Art in the Park - a new series of online classes led by professional artists and supported by live and pre-recorded content from Safari experts and the Gallery team. Live streamed from the Safari, the outdoors-inspired sessions will take place in February 2021, with options for individuals and schools. All are free to book.

For Individuals:

Staffin' the Safari, led by documentary artist and printmaker Julia Midgley looking at how keepers and animals work together for the benefit of wellbeing and conservation: four weekly sessions at 10am from February 1st.

Revisoning the Rhino, led by printmaker and former lecturer, Anthony Ratcliffe. Inspired by 16th Century artist, Albrecht Dürer, explore the idea of his rhinoceros woodcut with contemporary associations: four weekly sessions at 10am from February 2nd.

For Schools (KS2 & KS3):

Safari Scribblers, led by published writer Johanna Robinson, will see children take part in creative writing exercises inspired by visitors' perceptions of the Safari: Monday 8th, 15th & 22nd March and 12th April at 10am or 2pm.

Getting Under the Skin, led by Knowsley artist and tutor Patricia McDonald-Holmes, will focus on the nature and habitat of a selection of animals at the Safari. Tuesday 9th, 16th & 23rd March and 13th April at 10am or 2pm.

Find out more online at www.prescotmuseum.org.uk/visit-from-home

Individual bookings: www.knowsleysafariexperience.co.uk/whats-on/events/art-in-the-park/

Schools can contact Knowsley Safari's Learning and Discovery team directly on 0151 430 9009 (option 2) or enquire online: <https://www.knowsleysafariexperience.co.uk/education/contact-us/>

ART IN THE PARK

Kirkby Gallery
& Prescott Museum

